Moscow, January 11.

TH E Ambassador of Poland has already had Three Audiences of the Czar, the first was very magnificent, being conducted to Court by Four of the Czar's own Coaches, and was afterwards introduced into his Majesty's Closet by the principal Ministers: That Ambassador is preparing already for his Departure, notwithstanding the Day for his Audience of Leave is not yet fixed. He is to be succeeded by a Polish Envoy, who is to be constantly Resident at this Court. It is reported, that although the Czar's Forces in Georgia and Daguestan consist of between 38 and 40000 Men, 20000 more will be sent thither to reinforce them.

Warsaw, Jan. 16. The Pope's Nuncio, who assisted at Court in the Solemnities of Twelfth-Day, set out from hence some Days ago on his Journey for Saxony. The Great Chancellour of the Crown is returned hither, to attend constantly at the Courts of Justice during the King's Absence. In the Circular Letters that were dispatched just before the King's Departure for Saxony, to the several Provinces for convening their Dyets, his Majesty was pleased to make known a little of his Resentment at the wicked Causes of breaking up the last General Dyet: The Offer made by General Flemming to resign his Command of the Troops as soon as the Dyet should be ended, if it were required of him; and the extraordinary Pains taken by his Majesty to adjust the Affair of Ostrog, which certainly would have succeeded had it not been industriously obstructed by the Malignant Party, who continually rejected the fairest Means of Agreement, make it sufficiently plain who are the Disturbers of the Kingdom's Peace, and Authors of the present reigning Differences in the Commonwealth. The King also before his Departure exhorted the Nobility of the Kingdom to engage the Deputies in the next General Dyet not to vote otherwise than according to their several Ranks, and conformable to their Instructions; to make their Proposals in a peaceable Manner, not forcing their Acceptance with Threats of breaking up the Conferences; to refer Matters to be decided by the Senate in Cases where they cannot agree among themselves; to acquiesce them, that if they again commit the like Outrages as in the last Dyet, it will be necessary such Disturbers should be deprived of their Seats and Votes, and be chastised according to the Constitutions of the Kingdom: And lastly, In Cases where the King's Exhortations are found insufficient to apply a Remedy to Disorders, his Majesty shall be supported in taking such Measures, in Conjunction with the Senate and his Council, as shall be effectual to secure the Tranquillity of the Kingdom. The Crim Tartars make a Shew of opening a Campaign, which has obliged the Governors of Places in the neighbouring Provinces to caution the Inhabitants to be upon their Guard, to bring in all their Plate and Furniture into the fortified Towns, and hide their Corn in Vaults and subterraneous Places. The Muscovites have taken several young Cossacks belonging to the best Families, and carried them from their own Country to Moscow, and will not admit them to be ransomed by their Parents at any Rate that they are able to offer. M. Rodkowski having obtained the King's Decree for re-establishing the Christians of the Greek Profession in this Kingdom in Possession of their Churches, is set out from hence to put it in Execution. The Polish Chancery, the Saxon Ministers, and Prince Dolhorucki, Ambassador from the Czar, are also set out for Dresden.

Messina, Jan. 17. The Count de Almerara our Viceroy has ordered all the Sea-Ports of this Kingdom to be visited and the Fortifications repaired. Recruits from Naples are expected here for the Foot Regiments and 'tis said the Horse will be remounted this Spring. This Government has frequent Contentions with the Ecclesiasticks upon Account of their pretended Immunities, which are broke without Scruple, whenever 'tis requisite to punish Criminals. The Island of Malta is at present in a good Condition of Defence.

M. Marquette, an Officer in the Service of this Republick and Governor of Willemstadt, died some Days ago; that Government is since given to M. Vander Duyn, Brother to the Lady Albermarle, and Captain in the Regiment of Blue Horse-Guards: By this Death, another Regiment of Foot is become vacant.

Whereas it has not only been represented to the Directors of the London Assurance, but appears likewise by an Affidavit made before George Musgrave, Esq; one of His Majesty's Justices of the Peace for the County of Somerset, that there is great Reason to believe, that the Dwelling-House of William Blake, Esq; of Minehead, in the said County, has been designedly and maliciously set on Fire twice within the Space of Eight Months, viz. first on the 26th of March, and again on the 16th of November last.
